Setup of Septic Tanks In Emerald Lake Area Health Hazard: Claim

Fully one-third of the homes in the Emerald Lake area west of Redwood City are giving "definite trouble" so far as sewage is concerned, the San Mateo County Health and Welfare Dept. reported this week.

In addition to the "definites," an additional 11 per cent of the septic tanks were listed as "questionables," and the health inspectors even raised their eyebrows at the 47 per cent which were listed as "no trouble."

Sanitary Engineer Eugene Howell said that the figures released were compiled during a house-to-house or rather, a tank-to-tank survey by his inspectors.

A total of 465 homes was checked, and the inspectors also talked to the owners of 289.

The inspectors found that the majority of the homeowners were in favor of having community sewers installed in the area to eliminate the noisome conditions and the health hazards resulting from leaking septic tanks.

Of those homeowners questioned, 65 per cent favored the installation of sewers. About 18 per cent were undecided, and 10 per cent opposed.

Howell said that a group of Emerald Lake residents already has asked the board of supervisors for a meeting to discuss possible formation of a sanitary district to finance construction of a sewer system.

The health department is urging such a district. Howell, citing the serious health menace from the leaky tanks, said there were only two courses open:

1. Close up the houses.

2. Form a district to build the sewers.

The survey showed that 33 per cent of the septic tanks were giving "definite" trouble. Howell said that by "definite" he meant that sewage overflows into back yards and into dry gullies, and that the condition is visible and unmistakable.

The "questionable" tanks—11 per cent of the total—probably cause seepage into streets and to other property. It would be necessary to put a dye into the sewage to trace the course of the questionable cases.

Even the 47 per cent which are listed as "no trouble" probably constitute a health hazard, Howell declared. They most likely are "no trouble" to the owners of the property on which they are located, but may seep to adjoining land.

The report showed that only 1 per cent of the homes in the Emerald Lake area are connected to a community sewer.

Coast Leader Dies in Crash On Ocean Rd.

A Sharp Park civic leader was fatally injured early Monday morning when his car was involved in a headon collision a half mile south of the Skyline-Coast Hwy. intersection.

Charles E. Goffin, 52, died in the arms of highway patrolmen and was buried in Golden Gate National Cemetery today. Funeral services were held from the Lasswell and Co. mortuary, Daly City.

Capt. E. F. Cassell of the CHP said that he will ask the district attorney's office to issue a manslaughter complaint against Lido L. Landi, 21, a Sharp Park florist, who was listed as the driver of the other car.

Witnesses stated that Landi's car swerved across the center lane and crashed into Mr. Goffin's northbound sedan.

Landi denied driving, officers declared. He said that he had attended a dance of the Ocean Shore Mounted Patrol in Colma, and was going to get something to eat. An unidentified man and a woman were with him in the car, he declared, adding that the unknown man was driving.

The officers, however, could not located the couple.

Mr. Goffin, a metal parts man for the San Francisco Examiner, lived at 122 Hilton Ln., Sharp Park. A native of Canada, Mr. Goffin had lived in the United States for 50 years, and in San Mateo County for 20.

He was active in civic affairs, and was assistant scoutmaster of Troop 29, Sharp Park. He also was a member of Crocker Lodge 454, F&AM, Daly City. He had served in the armed forces during the first world war.

Survivors include his widow, Edith; a brother, John, of Los Angeles; and a sister, Mrs. Gwendolyn Connor.

The CHP reported that five other persons were injured in traffic accidents in the unincorporated parts of San Mateo County during the weekend. None of the injuries was serious.

Rene E. Marin, 17, Josephine La Barba, 19, and John Zucca, 21, all of San Francisco, were hurt when a car skidded on a curve of Skyline Blvd., near Colma, Monday afternoon.

Luke J. Milick, 18, San Francisco, driver of the car, said that an oncoming vehicle cut his car off the road. Milick's sedan rolled over onto its side, slid for a few feet and then made a complete turn, back onto its wheels.

Ronald Stein, 14, of 332 Elm St., San Mateo, and Larry Andrini, 14, San Francisco, suffered abrasions when the motor scooter they were riding skidded off Portola Rd. and plunged into some bushes. The accident occurred Monday afternoon a quarter mile from Searsville Lake. Stein was the driver.

Six other accidents occurred during the weekend in the rural areas, but none of them resulted in injury.

Third Court Bill Okehed By Senate

The state senate this week passed and sent to the governor an assembly bill by Richard Dolwig which would add one judge to the superior court in San Mateo County.

The bill, presented by Sen. Harry Parkman of San Mateo County, would raise the number of superior judges in the county from two to three. The measure now only awaits the governor's signature to make the bill law.

Vigorous objections had previously been raised against the bill by Assemblyman George Collins of San Francisco and San Fernando Rep. Julian Beck. They had contended the population of the county had increased but the number of litigations filed during the last few years had remained the same.

Beck argued against the measure on economy grounds.

Dolwig pled the county's cause stating that justice was now delayed one year from the filing of first briefs by attorneys. According to Dolwig, San Mateo's jurists have disposed of as many cases per year as had been acted on in counties with six judges.

Dolwig's stand had been backed by members of the San Mateo County Bar Assn., the county grand jury, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors and San Mateo County attorneys.

First move to establish the third judgeship here was taken by the bar association last September. At that time the association presented the membership with a resolution which was finally adopted three months later.

The bill to create the third position was introduced to the assembly by Dolwig in January.

The bill was approved by the assembly's judiciary committee early this month, and passed by the lower house one week later. It received early approval from the state's upper house.

I. Karmel, Burlingame city attorney, and Charles J. Wiseman, San Mateo attorney, appear as top possibilities for judge of the new court, providing the measure receives Governor Warren's signature.

Several other candidates have been labeled as "likely possibilities" for the third court judgeship.

They are Wayne Millington, Redwood City attorney; Judge Hugh F. Mullin Jr., justice of the peace in San Mateo; Judge John J. Fahey Jr., justice of the peace in South San Francisco; Paul I. McCarthy, Redwood City attorney; Joseph O'Malley, Burlingame attorney, and Dolwig.

County Recorder T. Clark Rice Dies, Seven Seeking Post

San Mateo County Recorder T. Clark Rice, a veteran in county politics for 30 years, died early Monday evening at his home, 1519 Middlefield Rd.

Mr. Rice would have been 84 on July 24. His death resulted from leukemia, according to his family.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. yesterday from the Masonic Hall, Redwood City, under the auspices of Lodge 158, A. F. and M. Interment followed at Alta Mesa Memorial Park, beside his wife, Mary, who died in 1940.

T. CLARK RICE

Supervisor Chmn. Henry W. Edmonds, expressing grief at the loss of the veteran county official, said that no successor will be named this week. Several members of the board are out of town, but are expected to attend next Tuesday's meeting, when the question of Mr. Rice's successor probably will arise.

Mr. Rice became ill about two months ago, and left for Honolulu with friends to attend a Shrine convention. While in Hawaii, his condition became more serious, and he flew back home.

At his bedside Monday were his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Rice Bond, with whom he lived, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Rice of Van Nuys. Capt. Rice, a pioneer Transworld Airlines pilot and superintendent of flying in the western region for TWA, flew to Redwood City.

Mr. Rice was born in Algona, Ia., and came to California in 1887. For a while he was a conductor on a horse-drawn cable car operating between Third and Townsend Sts., San Francisco, and the North Beach.

He later entered the plastering and cement business in Redwood City. He also taught stonework at the Lick-Wilmerding High School, San Francisco. He had been a member of the Odd Fellows and Eagles for nearly half a century.

In 1918 he was elected county recorder, and was reelected each succeeding four years.

Survivors include the daughter and son; three grandchildren, Peggy Jean, Barbara Ann and George Thomas Rice; and a sister, Mrs. Guy L. Taylor, Sioux City, Ia. Mr. Rice's mother, Mrs. Sylvania Rice, died two years ago at the age of 102.

County officials expressed grief at the death of Mr. Rice.

"In the passing of T. Clark Rice, the county has lost a most loyal and progressive public servant," Edmonds declared. "He was one who even after years in office was continually looking ahead, ever with a view to improving and modernizing his department of county government, as is indicated in his recent adoption and installation of the new system of photographic copying of all documents offered for recordation, which insures greater accuracy and increased preservation of such records at a material decrease in office operation."

"Mr. Rice has given fine service to San Mateo County and has conducted his department in a very efficient manner," County Executive Frederick Peterson declared. "His loss will be felt keenly in county government."

"I've known him for a great many years," Controller Fred Beer said. "I have always enjoyed working with him. He was a remarkable man. He did a lot of constructive work for the county and we are all going to miss him."

Speed Plans For July 4th Fete Here

Final touches were being placed on the program for the 1949 Redwood City rodeo celebration which begins a four-day run today.

John Rolla, president of the sponsoring Peninsula Celebrations Assn., reported that all of the many units of the Fourth of July activities are taking shape.

The celebration this year opens with an outdoor dance in the amphitheater adjacent to the rodeo grounds on Lower Broadway. The theater, constructed just this year, will have seating space for 700 persons and a dance area for nearly a 1000, Rolla said.

Today's activities get underway at 6 p.m. when concessions operated by two dozen local organizations are opened. Dorothy Roberts School of Dancing will present "Stars of Tomorrow" in the amphitheater from 7 to 8 p.m. This show will be free to the public.

"Dancing Under the Stars" to Dude Martin's music begins at 9 o'clock.

Charles Mitchell, whose committee is putting together the official souvenir rodeo program, reports that this year's edition will be a record 32-page size and will feature a two-page layout dealing with the history and growth of Redwood City.

Other activities which are nearing the ready stage are the horse sale scheduled for July 2 and 3 in the Bean Bldg. adjacent to the rodeo grounds; the fireworks display July 4; the horse parades July 2 and 3, as well as the big parade on July 4.

Rodeo officials said that numerous persons are seeking information on phases of the celebration itself. All questions may be asked at rodeo headquarters on Lower Broadway between Main and Chestnut Sts., or by calling EM. 8-1558 any hour of the day or night.

Rodeo tickets will be available from now until noon Saturday at any of the four Redwood City banks, or at a booth located on Broadway.

Name Burlingame Girl Queen of '49 RC Rodeo

Pat Bolster of Burlingame is the queen of the 1949 Redwood City rodeo celebration. Miss Bolster was chosen from seven Peninsula girls and was crowned during the coronation ball here Saturday night.

The winner is a stewardess for Pan American Airways which sponsored her in the contest. Miss Bolster reached the finals Saturday afternoon along with Miss Beverly Swenson of Redwood City and Miss Elsie Lopes of Millbrae.

The final judging was based on horsemanship, ticket sales, personality, poise, and charm. Although beaten in ticket sales by Miss Swenson, Pat won on the basis of her ability to ride a horse, and her personal charm, according to Frank Westmore, head judge.

Westmore, makeup expert for Universal Studios, came from Hollywood to act as judge. He was aided by Bert Hendrickson of Universal Studios.

Miss Bolster now wins the honor of heading the Fourth of July parade in Redwood City; she will reign at the three-day rodeo events, July 2, 3, and 4, and she will be presented with a new convertible automobile.

Miss Swenson, who was runnerup, gets a two-day vacation for herself and a feminine friend at the 10,000-acre Alisal Ranch near Santa Barbara.

Four young women failed to qualify for the finals after preliminary ticket sales and horsemanship testing.

These girls were Jody Smith and Clyda Rosa of Palo Alto, Mary Alice Perkins of San Bruon, and Janice Day of Redwood City.

More than 1200 persons attended the queen's ball which is the final preview for the 11th annual Fourth of July celebration in Redwood City. Two dozen local organizations are combining to present the four-day affair to gain proceeds for city recreation facilities. The dance was sponsored by the 20-30 Club and was held in the Milland Bldg., Charter St. and Broadway.

Texas Dog Surrenders!

It takes a Texas woman to find a Texas dog in this neighborhood.

Saturday, Freckles, 8-year-old Cocker Spaniel mascot of Texas A&M College, wandered away from her owner's backyard in Redwood City.

The pooch, whose master is Lt. Harold Mullins, former A&M student, wandered somehow, someway, to San Carlos.

Mrs. H. V. DeArmond of 1409 Cedar St., San Carlos, was doing her regular Saturday afternoon shopping in San Carlos when she saw the dog on the street.

She spoke to Freckles.

Mrs. DeArmond is formerly from San Antonio, Tex., and evidently the dog recognized something familiar in Mrs. DeArmond's Texas twang.

Anyway, the pooch wouldn't leave Mrs. DeArmond's side although she said she made an effort to leave the dog behind.

"It looked like somebody's pet," Mrs. DeArmond said, "so I tried to ditch her, but she kept following me."

Mrs. DeArmond said after she got home she read the article concerning Freckles, disappearance and called up Mullins who claimed the dog.

Cash, Liquor Taken Here By Burglars

Crowbar equipped yeggs tapped a safe at Magnani's Market for $1082.13 in funds and checks, five cases of whisky and 38 bottles of Scotch.

William DeGiovanni, proprietor, pointed out that entrance had been gained through a rear, covered yard.

DeGiovanni said the market at El Camino Real and Whipple Ave had been locked at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning. The safecracking was discovered when the proprietor came to work at 7:20 o'clock Monday.

Behind the store and near Southern Pacific Co. tracks is the rear yard which is covered with a chickenwire and board roof.

The burglars pulled some of the boards aside and then dropped to the ground. After that they crowbarred open a sliding rear door and went to work on the safe which was in a rear room.

Apparently some heat was used on the strong box, but the actual damage was done with crowbars. The main door and interior doors on the safe were peeled back.

After the store weekend receipts had been lifted the burglars took the whisky which was also stored in the rear room and made off through a side, rear door leading to a parking lot adjacent to Magnani's Corner, a tavern and peanut stand.

DiGiovanni said that approximately $86 which had been left in a front room till was also missing.

New Sales Tax Charts Offered

Redwood City merchants are reminded that the state sales and use tax rate will go up to 3 per cent beginning today. Dealers will be required to collect the 3 per cent sales tax in accordance with the State Board of Equalization's notice dated May 31, 1949.

The present tax rate is 2½ per cent.

New tables for the computation of the July 1 tax rates will be available at the Hedge Printing Co., 2021 Broadway, and the Redwood City Credit Bureau, 2024 Broadway, Thursday afternoon.

$1,126,158 Budget Set For Sequoia

Sequoia High School trustees last Tuesday adopted a tentative budget of $1,126,158 for the 1949-50 fiscal year and agreed to use the entire tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

The projected budget shows an increase of $70,600 over the 1948-49 budget total of $1,055,558. The tax rate for this year was $.98.7 per $100.

The proposed record budget figure marks the second year in a row in which the high school budget has passed the million-dollar mark.

Business Mgr. Humphrey Lynch reported that assessments for the coming year have not been definitely set nor can the amount of money the school will receive in state funds be determined thus far.

He said that in preparing the budget he had used an estimated figure of $70,000,000 for the total assessed valuation of the district with a 6 per cent deduction for tax delinquencies.

Lynch declared it was possible that the district may receive more money from assessments and the state than expected.

Trustee Clifton Woodhams went on record as opposing any last minute increase in the budget when it comes up for adoption in August.

"The district should budget according to its needs and not on available funds," Woodhams declared, "It's something like ordering a meal, you can't go down the left hand side of a menu and not look at the other side."

Supt. Clyde Ogden urged building up the school's general reserve fund has been increased from $42,080 in the present budget to $162,901 in the proposed budget, the largest single actual percentagewise increase in the new budget.

On the other hand, the capital outlay fund was greatly reduced in the proposed budget. Last year $202,140 was set aside for that item compared with $50,338 in the 1949-50 budget.

The teacher salary budget was raised from $555,051 to $609,660 in the proposed budget, an increase of $54,609.

The tentative budget must be turned over to the office of the county superintendent of schools today for checking and approval. It is then returned to the board for public hearing and final adoption during the first week of August.

Negotiations to acquire the 39-acre site for the south end high school were concluded except for a minor issue over a right-of-way. The board passed a resolution accepting the deed to the Donohoe property at Ringwood Ave. and Middlefield Rd. and authorized the payment of the remaining $127,000 for the purchase of the site.

Woodhams reported that a right-of-way exists for a road across one of the parcels of property and that the district attorney's office recommended that the board conclude the purchase but start condemnation proceedings against the right-of-way. The board voted to start the condemnation suit.

Complacency Hit By General Butler

Gen. Frederick Butler, head of organized army reserve groups for the Bay Area, termed the outstanding characteristic of the citizen of the United States today is his complacency in the acceptance of the bounties he receives from his country.

Speaking to members of the San Carlos Kiwanis Club this week, Gen. Butler declared "in spite of the fact that we are facing a crisis today we stand with our fists open."

The general, however, complimented the organized reserve groups which are "preparing for further service to the country in case of need."

He stated that hard work and interest in public and civic affairs is "what made this country."

General Butler admonished the public for taking too much out of government and not offering enough in return.

Larry Dowdy was program chairman for the day and Pres. Kit Carlton presided at the meeting.

Probst Kin To Take Sons

The bodies of former Army Chaplain Reed Probst Sr. of Menlo Park, and his wife, Cleopha, were buried side-by-side Wednesday at the Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Probst stabbed his wife to death early Saturday morning in the front yard of their home at 1307 Hollyburne Ave. before the horrified eyes of the couple's three 'teen-age sons. The father then killed himself by plunging a 10-inch butcher knife into his throat.

Authorities blamed the tragedy on a sudden fit of despondency, caused by illnesses which the one-time major in the Army Chaplain Corps contracted during 33 months of combat service in the Pacific. Since his discharge in 1946, he has been under continuous treatment by physicians in Palo Alto and Mountain View.

In addition to their three children, Chaplain Probst is survived by his parents, six brothers and four sisters. Mrs. Probst is survived by her parents, three sisters and one brother.

Senate Unit Approves Center Bill

Continuation of state supported child care centers was approved by the senate finance committee but only until June 30, 1950. This indicated that Redwood City's center would be continued on its present status for another year.

The bill carried a $5,848,500 appropriation.

Sen. Ben Hulse, El Centro, sponsored the amendments to the bill by Assemblyman Ernest Geddes, Pomona, setting the termination date.

Hulse said the child care centers were first established as a wartime emergency in 1943. The emergency is fast disappearing, he added, and there would be "no need" for the centers after June 30, 1950.

The Geddes bill in its original form would have placed the centers on a permanent basis.

Under the Hulse amendments local school districts could continue child care centers if the next legislature were to follow the policy set by the Hulse amendments.

Midnight Rescue Saves Youth From SF Bay

A midnight sea rescue by Palo Alto yachtmen, police and coast guard personnel saved the life of a San Jose youth this week after his companon swam two miles for aid in the bay waters off Palo Alto Yacht Harbor.

Paul Gregory, 16, of 336 Lenzen Ave., was taken to Palo Alto Hospital and dismissed after examination showed he was unharmed by clinging five hours to a buoy about two miles northeast of the harbor.

Raymond Rittler, 21, also of San Jose, in whose homemade snipe-class sailboat the pair was cruising the bay last weekend, also was unharmed.

According to Harbor Master Mark Nesbitt of Palo Alto, who directed the search for Gregory, the youths were sailing Sunday at about 1 p.m. when a squall capsized their craft about two miles off the yacht harbor.

For three hours, Rittler and Gregory clung to their upset boat while they tried in vain to attract attention of passing aircraft and boats. At about 4 p.m., Rittler left Gregory hanging onto the sailboat and began swimming toward the yacht harbor. He crawled ashore at about 9 p.m.

Nesbitt, accompanied by Manuel Adrain of San Jose, went out with Rittler to a point about a mile from the harbor. It was too dark to see, so the trio returned and began organizing a search for Gregory.

Nesbitt notified Palo Alto police and the coast guard, then telephoned Palo Alto boat owners who use the yacht harbor.

Led by Nesbitt, the flotilla headed out of the harbor and began sweeping the bay with searchlights.

For more than two hours, aided by flares dropped from the coast guard plane, the rescuers searched the area. Shortly before midnight the "Lady Ruth"—operated by Harvey and owned by Horace Baxter of Atherton, found Gregory clinging to the buoy. Harvey said later that he found the youth after hearing him whistle faintly in the darkness.

Last Remnants of RC Band To Go to the Highest Bidder

The Redwood City Band, once a flourishing musical organization of possibly 50 members, is apparently doomed for all time.

All that is left of the band are five or six musical instruments in the city hall cellar and some uniforms.

The city council intends to call for bids on these and sell them. That would wind up the band for all time.

Dr. R. Lee Otis was the founder of the organization some time around 1937. Mrs. Alice Otis, who was also active in the band, said that the first event at which the band marched was the opening of the Port of Redwood City and that was in 1937.

She recalls that sometimes as many as 50 amateur musicians were on the city band's roster and that the first majorette was Nancy Marlowe who later went into motion pictures. Mrs. Otis has since lost track and doesn't know where that majorette is now.

During its existence the band played at two East-West Shrine football games in San Francisco and at a San Jose parade where it won a prize.

Later Dr. Otis' practice took so much of his time that he had to give up leadership of the band to B. W. McCann.

At about that time, unfortunately, the war came along and with it musicians became scarce. When McCann was getting only five or six members to rehearsals the city council declared the band finished and stopped paying the leader.

During the war the city owned musical instruments were loaned to the U. S. Navy and used by a Construction Battalion in the South Pacific. After the war the instruments, a little worse for their tropical experiences, were returned and piled in the city hall basement.

During its stay as a marching unit, old timers recall, the band had two problems which crimped its efficiency.

First, it was a non-union, amateur affair. When it would attempt to operate at a civic function the Musicians' Union would demand that for every amateur marching the city hire a union man. That was a little rich for the city council's blood and once the band marched without playing a note.

OUT WITH THE OLD — City Clerk Ralph Dodge looks over some of the uniforms and instruments used by Redwood City's municipal band of 1937 which go on the auction block soon.

Since some band members and some other marchers in these events were union men, the musicians' union had a real power to stop the city band from playing.

The second problem was that some of the band's amateurs couldn't get off from their work to take part in parades. This also grieved the city council a little more than somewhat. Nevertheless, some members just couldn't give up a day's wages (at time and a half for a holiday) to be marching for free.

Sherman, Clay and Co. in San Francisco has offered the city $150 for the remaining instruments.

Robert Garcia, however, says that a Souzaphone in the cellar is worth at least $100 all by itself. He made that statement when applying to the city for a loan of the instrument so he could play it at an Elks convention in Los Angeles. He remarked that the instruments are very hard to find now.

Council lent him the instrument for the trip and has decided to call for bids on all the instruments on July 5. They'll be sold to the high bidder.

Huggans Suit Upheld By Dist. Court

The California District Court of Appeals Monday affirmed a $91,000 judgment against the Southern Pacific Co. That amount had previously been awarded to Earl Maurice (Tommy) Huggans.

Huggans, a 14-year-old Sequoia High School student, had his right foot and left leg below the knee cut off on Nov. 23, 1946, when he was struck by a SP train which was slowing down for the Redwood City station.

At that time the youngster was selling newspapers at the station.

On May 5, 1948, a jury in the court of Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton returned a verdict granting the youth the $91,000 which Court Clerk Mura Stilleson said was the largest ever returned in a personal injury suit in this county.

The railroad subsequently appealed the judgement.

Attorneys for the boy had previously asked the court to collect

7 County Men Listed For Recorder's Post

The field was wide open today for the post of San Mateo County recorder, following the death Monday evening of T. Clark Rice.

A half dozen possible candidates are being mentioned in courthouse circles, and a seventh possibility announced that he definitely will not consider appointment to the post.

Francis A. Raymond, veteran Peninsula newspaperman, wrote the board of supervisors that he is not in the running, and prefers to remain a newspaperman. He added, however, that a group of businessmen had contacted him about the possibilty of seeking the post, offering its support.

Candidates mentioned in the courthouse today were: William Schade of San Bruno. Schade, a deputy sheriff, is active in north-county civic and fraternal affairs. He has lived in San Bruno 25 years, was captain in the San Bruno Fire Dept., and a fire commissioner. He is past president of the San Mateo County Firemen's Assn.

Eugene Cerqui of Redwood City. Cerqui, another deputy sheriff, is a member of a pioneer San Mateo County family and a native of Redwood City. He has been in the sheriff's office 12 years, and is state grand marshal of the Native Sons of the Golden West. In 1934 Cerqui ran for the post of county clerk against Elmore B. Hinman, but was defeated.

Robert Duffy of Daly City. Duffy has been a superior court clerk for 10 years, and has lived in Daly City 25 years. Before becoming court clerk he worked for the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Floyd Granger, Redwood City. Granger, a Redwood City councilman and former mayor, worked in the recorder's office for five years, and also was Mr. Rice's chief deputy. At present he is county veterans service officer.

Albert Bullivant, Redwood City. Bullivant, a former chief deputy controller, ran against the late Thomas Kane for the controller's post, and lost.

Floyd B. Tower, San Bruno. Tower is president of the San Mateo County Fair Assn. and also is county jury commissioner.

Some of the possible candidates who live in the northern end of the county feel that their chances of being named by the board of supervisors to succeed Mr. Rice are enhanced because of their place of residence. They pointed out that there are no department heads who live in the north end.

The board of supervisors will not consider an appointment of Mr. Rice's successor until at least next Tuesday, according to Supervisor Chmn. Henry W. Edmonds.

W. Paul Whaley Installed As Rotary Club President

W. Paul Whaley, industrial relations executive for S & W Fine Foods, today is the new president of the Redwood City Rotary Club. Whaley was installed along with other officers Tuesday during a dinner dance at the Pioneer in Woodside.

Others who take office are David Schutz, vice president; John Weeks, secretary; James H. Hedge, treasurer; Brooke Halsey, Paul Fischer, Paul Jones, and Ray Wilson, directors. Halsey is the outgoing president.

In leaving office Halsey paid tribute to Russell Cooney, program chairman; Jones, fellowship chairman, and Dan Robertson, vocational guidance chairman, as the "most valuable Rotarians of the year."

Whaley announced that the group's first project for the new year will be participation in the Redwood City Fourth of July celebration. Francis Pearson and John Babcock head the Rotary committee for this project.

Special guests last night were Randall Cathcart, former vice president of the Redwood City club and now president in San Carlos, and Milton Lauterwasser, a charter member and secretary in Redwood City, who also is in San Carlos now.

Camera Club Lists Winners

Prize winners in the print and color slide picture contest were announced at Tuesday's meeting of the Redwood Camera Club.

Lionel Berryhill, professional photographer, did the judging and commented on the prize-winning pictures.

Alden Hunting took first prize in the print contest. Other winners were Clayton Thorup, second; Leon Strauss, third; Alden Hunting, fourth and Paul Raymus, fifth.

Winners in the color slide division were Clayton Thorup, first, second and third; Leon Strauss, fourth and Lewis Pimentel, fifth.

Dolwig Group Gets $45,000 To Study Bay Bridge Needs

Traffic and south bay bridge crossing studies were authorized by the governor Tuesday when the assembly created a bridge committee under the chairmanship of Richard J. Dolwig, South San Francisco assemblyman.

The governor disclosed that that the studies will be undertaken immediately and that $45,000 has been granted the committee to carry out the plans. The studies are those recommended by consulting engineers for the assembly's special bridge committee, headed by Dolwig. This includes a three-phase program of replacing bay bridge trains with motor coaches, building a southern crossing, then widening the present bridge with cantilever wings.

The governor's announcement of the formation of the special bridge group followed the legislature's refusal to grant an $893,049 requested appropriation for the new fiscal year until and unless the Dolwig committee recommendations have been investigated further. The recommendations, previously publicized when submitted by the committee's engineers, will be incorporated in the committee report, due momentarily.

Dolwig won authorization Monday to leave the state to attend hearings before a Washington subcommittee studying the bridge measure. The assemblyman won authorization when the assembly approved an amendment to the resolution creating the committee and prescribing its duties.

Contestant's Kin Charge Queen 'Job'

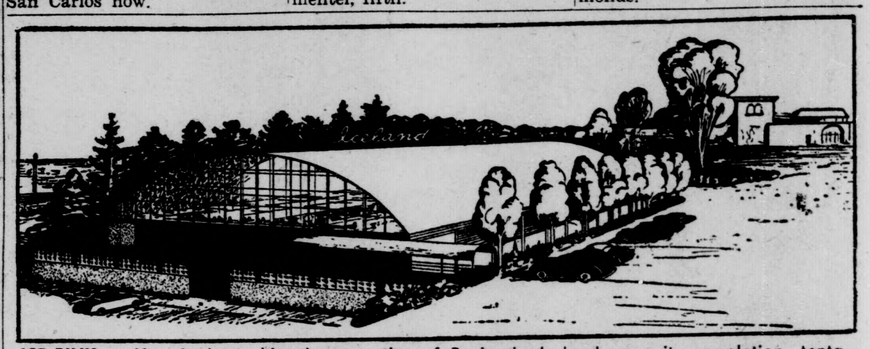
Mr. and Mrs. Herman Swenson have charged that judging on the July 4 Rodeo and Celebration queen contest was "not on the level," and indicated that their daughter, Beverly, was "jobbed."

Swenson pointed out that the judging was divided into sections and that 20 per cent of each contestant's total was for horsemanship. He said he would like to have an explanation from the judges on why a girl who fell off her horse during the contest received but one point less than the girl who won in that division and why the girl who fell received more points than his daughter.

He also claimed an official told him Sunday that on Saturday at 5 p. m., before the final judging, he could have told Swenson that he knew the judging was "not on the level."

There were three contestants for the top honor who sold enough tickets to qualify for the final judging.

They were Beverly Swenson, Pat Bolster of Burlingame, who was declared the winner, and Elsie Lopes of Millbrae.



ICE RINK — Here is the architect's conception of Peninsula Iceland upon its completion, tentatively scheduled for late this Fall. The handsome, modern structure will house a rink 85x185 feet with all the desirable features for comfort and convenience of both spectators and skaters. Included will be a fountain-coffee shop and a balcony dining room with tiered tables. From both it will be possible to view events upon the ice. Peninsula Iceland will be located between El Camino Real and the Southern Pacific right-of-way at the San Carlos-Belmont line. The property was purchased this week from T. I. Mosley, president of the Dalmo Manufacturing Co. and the Dalmo-Victor Co. for a sum indicated to be in excess of $50,000. An existing building will be demolished to make way for the new rink.

Airplane Parts Reported Stolen

A small plane owned by an Atherton man was stripped of every movable part while it was tied down during the past two months at the San Carlos Airport, the sheriff's office reported Monday.

The plane owner, Fred Richards, 65 Fairfax Ave., Atherton, is a Pan American pilot and was out of the country for two months.

Two Men Appointed To Belmont Council

Two Belmont councilmen, Ray Rhodes and Co. George Campbell, this week resigned from the city council and two Belmont attorneys were appointed without opposition on the first ballot to replace them.

The council appointed Donnell B. McCarthy to Rhodes' post and Lyle Jones to the seat on the council formerly occupied by Campbell.

Campbell's resignation came as a surprise to council members. His resignation was submitted in a formal letter written Monday. Rhodes previously had announced he would resign his seat on the council following his election to a post on the Belmont Elementary School Board.

McCarthy is 33, and has lived in Belmont for three years. He maintains law offices in Belmont, is married and is the father of two small boys. He was formerly an insurance agent but has been an attorney since 1941. He is a native of San Francisco and a graduate of the University of San Francisco.

Jones is an attorney with the Department of Justice in San Francisco. He is a graduate of Lehigh University and the Harvard Law School. He is 39, married and the father of three girls.

This is McCarthy's first try at public office. Jones was a candidate for a member of the Belmont Water Board but was defeated.

McCarthy now becomes chairman of the city's health and welfare commission while Jones takes the post of chairman of the police commission.

Retiring Councilman Campbell told councilmen the press of personal business and activities as a reserve officer in the army necessitated his resignation.

The new councilmen will come up for public election when their terms expire next Spring.

Mayor Bayley Kohlmeier introduced a resolution commending the outgoing councilmen for their past work on the council and welcoming the new members to the council.

Courthouse Annex Plan Wins Okeh

Bills to permit construction of an annex to the San Mateo County courthouse here were awaiting the governor's signature after the state assembly had given passage to the measures introduced by Assemblyman Richard Dolwig.

The senate adopted the measures without a dissenting vote. It amends the codes to permit use of public squares for public buildings.

Sen. Earl Desmond of Sacramento handled the bills in the senate.

The measure, Assembly Bill 3038, permits the use of California Square for a courthouse annex. Legislative approval was required when it was determined that there was a question of the legal ownership of the square.

Redwood City had deeded the land to the county for the annex, but title companies would not insure the land because of the question of ownership.

County officials have indicated that as soon as the land has been turned over to the county, work will start on plans for the building, and construction is expected soon afterwards. The annex is expected to house the superior courts. A bill establishing a new third court in the county is also up for the governor's signature. The building is also expected to house the justice court, district attorney's office and clerk's office.

Louis B. Dematteis, San Mateo County district attorney, pointed out that even with the bill's approval it will take 90 days for the law to go into effect. Even with the state sanction of the transfer, the legal steps are not through.

Dematteis said there will probably have to be a suit filed in superior court to clear the title, and expected the legal end of the transfer to be finished about the end of the year.

The next step will be in deciding what type of building is to be constructed, and the preparation of plans.

Actual construction will probably take a year.

150 at Cub Pack 10 Anniversary Fete

Cub Scouts of Pack 10, under the sponsorship of the Redwood City Junior Chamber of Commerce, held ceremonies recently celebrating their sixth-month anniversary. More than 150 cubs, their parents and friends, entered in foot races for all age groups and ate a pot luck dinner in festivities at Flood Park.

Advancement awards were presented to 16 boys of the pack by Packmaster William Rulhausen.

The bobcat award was presented to James Welsh of Den 7, and James Paulk received his den chief warrant and cord and neckerchief slide for bringing in three new cubs to the pack.

At graduation ceremonies five Cub Scouts advanced to the rank of Boy Scout and were presented with graduation certificates and scouting handbooks. Receiving the awards were William Nesbit, Leonard Preader, David Eichorn, Fred Pennewell and Robert DeCristoferi.

John Stegeman, president of the local junior chamber, presented $50 to Rulhausen to help the troop in its drive for more members. Rulhausen had two cubs in the pack when the pack was organized in January. There are now 23 cubs in the organization.

Honor Scout Seeks Vacation Check

Richard Leimitz lost his vacation check Tuesday, a special award to him from Boy Scout Troop 120. Scoutmaster H. F. Stout explained it this way:

Leimitz, 14, lives at 2604 Brewster Ave. His superior work in scouting (he has just been made a Life Scout) won for him a free vacation at Boy Scout camp. Vacation was to have started next week, and it was a gift of the scout troop sponsored by the First Congregational Church.

But the boy's mother, Mrs. Grace Leimitz, was taken ill and ordered to bed for the next several months. The boy reconsidered his vacation plans and decided to cancel them.

He asked if the troop would not give him a check representing the cost of the vacation. The troop agreed and gave him a check for $15.50.

The boy went to the Bank of America at California and Broadway Tuesday noon to cash it. When he arrived his wallet, with the check, was missing. The scout troop stopped payment, but the search continues.

Richard is spending his vacation as a summer student at Sequoia.

Belmont Chase Ends in Arrest

Belmont police Monday arrested a 15-year-old Burlingame boy, on probation from Log Cabin Ranch, for car theft and four driving counts after a chase on El Camino Real.

Patrolman Andrew Turnauer said he started to chase a speeding 1941 coupe driven by the boy at 9:40 o'clock. He said the boy attempted to get away and flicked the lights of his car off when he turned onto Ralston Ave.

Turnauer radioed Patrolman Ed Smith who blockaded Ralston Ave. and the two succeeded in stopping the car. The boy was taken to the police station and charged with speeding, reckless driving, failure to heed a siren, and driving without a license.

When a report came over the police radio that the boy was wanted by Burlingame police for stealing a car belonging to Alexander Gordon, 1535 Vancouver Ave., Burlingame, the boy was charged with car theft and turned over to Burlingame police who subsequently released him to county juvenile authorities.

Police Chief O. Walter Lindholm said that the boy had been convicted previously on car theft charges and was on probation from Log Cabin Ranch.

Moose to Join RC Rodeo Parade

A large scale model of the Campanile chimetower, national symbol of the Moose, will be the float entry of the Redwood City Lodge 1112, Loyal Order of the Moose, in the Redwood City Fourth of July parade.

Float Committee Members Walter Farley, Bud Evans, Merill Maxon and Bernarr Walzberg are in charge of the float which will symbolize Moose-founder James J. Davis' motto "Every child is entitled to a high school education and a trade."

In connection with Moose activities for the coming month, M. W. Kehler, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced a "folk dance practice night" will be held July 13 at 8 o'clock at the lodge.

The annual Moose picnic will be held July 17 at Tan Oaks Flat in San Mateo County Memorial Park. Free ice cream and soft drinks will be provided by the lodge.

A special social dance will be given jointly by the Redwood City Lodge 601, Women of the Moose, and the men's lodge on July 30.

The membership committee is planning for final initiation ceremonies to be held early next month in preparation for the national 49er Moose convention.

Fog Machine Causes Flurry

A wartime developed fog machine created excitement among residents of the Felton Gables tract of Menlo Park Monday.

Residents first heard a loud roaring noise about 8 p.m. When they looked out they saw what appeared to be a truck laying down a smoke screen.

Said Mrs. Mabel Spellman of 300 Lennox Ave: "I thought maybe the Russians had landed."

Mrs. Spellman said she called the Menlo Park police who sent a prowl car to investigate. The patrolman told her later he guessed it was part of the mosquito abatement program, but he wasn't sure.

This week it was learned that the war surplus fogging machine used by the San Mateo Mosquito Abatement Dist. had broken down. After it was fixed it was behind schedule, which accounted for the fact that it was operating at night.

A Menlo Park Sanitary Dist. official said that the spray is a harmless mixture of oil and DDT, which is extremel yeffective in the control of mosquitos. The machine lays down a thick fog, which rises as high as the tree tops, it does the work of six men, the official said.

San Carlos Driver Hurt in Accident

Phillip M. Cotton, 53, 2254 Carmelita Dr., San Carlos, was treated at the Redwood City Clinic Monday for a cut forehead following a three-vehicle collision at 7:26 a.m. at El Camino Real and Jefferson Ave.

He told police that his southbound car was struck by an eastbound car driven by Theodore A. Lugo, 30, 815 Bay View Way, so that it was smashed against a parked truck owned by R. L. Barmby, Sacramento.

Diamond Ring Taken From Home

A $900 diamond ring has been reported as stolen from the home of John Reese, 856 Whisky Hill Rd., Woodside, according to the sheriff's office.

The Reeses moved into the house recently, and upon taking inventory discovered that the ring was missing. It had been placed in a bureau drawer.

The ring contained two diamonds, one carat each, in a platinum setting, four rubies and 26 smaller diamonds.

P.A. Couple Wins Bridge Tournament

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur A. Pestell of Palo Alto won the weekly major tournament of the Peninsula Bridge Club Friday night at the Redwood City Woman's Club.

H. E. Murphy of San Francisco and Sam Megeath of Palo Alto were second; the Harold Middletons of San Carlos, third, the Don Kirks of Redwood City, fourth; the R. W. Hartmans of Burlingame, fifth; and the Ray Jones of San Carlos, sixth.

NOW 3 OUT OF 4 TELEPHONE ORDERS FILLED IN A MONTH

In some fastest-growing areas the wait still is long—but we're making steady progress

1. Installers have been working fast the first half of 1949 . . . keeping up their pace of the postwar years. Here in the West, 145,000 new telephones will have gone into service in the first six months of the year. Although new orders keep pouring in, we're able to take care of them faster. Seventy-two per cent are filled within thirty days—that's practically three out of four.

2. Hundreds of miles of telephone cables have been going in at a fast clip. But these voice-highways are still bottlenecked in some places—in many of our fastest-growing areas, practically no telephones can be installed for months . . . until the lines and other facilities can catch up with the mushrooming demand. The telephone picture looks better . . . but it's not yet all we want it to be.

3. Nearly a million and a half tiny soldered connections must be made before new equipment like this can begin working in a medium-sized office. But we're hurrying all we can to make the waiting time shorter still. Your telephone needs are very real to us and we won't be satisfied until everyone . . . everywhere in the West . . . has more and better telephone service than ever before.

4. Huge sums of money have gone to work in the West to make this new equipment possible — and your own telephone more valuable. Millions must come — not from bills—but from people who put savings into the telephone business. To attract these dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use . . . must sell our services at fair, adequate prices.

GARDEN: Labels Must Show Fertilizer Content

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

Allen B. Lemmon, Chief, Bureau of Chemistry, California Department of Agriculture, read that column about the salesman who had such a preposterous line of claims for his particular kind of agricultural minerals. Mr. Lemmon, naturally, wants to stop such statements when possible, and asked for the name.

In this case, I gave the guy such a going over myself I have reason to believe he's keyed his pitch much lower. In hope that he has, I'll not turn his name in at this time. However—I won't protect characters who keep repeating.

You'll be interested in excerpts from Mr. Lemmon's letter: "The law provides that the label for a commercial fertilizer must state the name and percentage of every constituent of agricultural value that is claimed to be therein. There is no question with regard to claims for nitrogen, available phosphoric acid, water-soluble potash, sulphur, calcium, or any other element for which there is a definite need as established by scientific data.

"We have taken exception to claims for trace amounts of minor elements when it appeared that the seller was attempting to confuse the user through misrepresentation of his product. We have been accepting claims for other elements, such as zinc, manganese, copper, iron and magnesium when the amount present was 0.5 per cent or more of the element expressed as elemental in water-soluble form.

"If the seller wished to claim less than 0.5 per cent we have asked him to submit evidence that the amount he proposed to sell would be of value when used in accordance with his recommendations. Boron, course, is an exception as much smaller amounts are needed.

"I am familiar with the statements of those promoting organic gardening. There is no question but that home gardeners should be encouraged to have home compost heaps, but commercial fertilizers also have value . . ."

I agree wholeheartedly with that last statement. I'm glad to see that the department makes an exception of boron in the amount of trace element that is recognized. With them, a little seems to go a long way toward a plant's needs.

Some are apparently needed in even smaller amounts than boron, according to Dr. D. R. Hoagland, professor of plant nutrition at the U. C. Experiment Station, because in telling how to prepare a nutrient solution for growing plants by the water culture method, Dr. Hoagland gives this formula:

Compound	Grams dissolved in 1 liter of water
Boric acid	2.86
Manganese chloride	1.86
Zinc sulphate	0.22
Copper sulphate	0.08
Molybdic acid	0.09

From this one liter of solution of trace elements, Dr. Hoagland directs that 1 cc be added to each liter of nutrient solution. To quote:

"This will give the following concentrations.

Element	Parts per million of nutrient solution
Boron	0.5
Manganese	0.5
Zinc	0.05
Copper	0.02
Molybdenum	0.05

I've talked with laboratory men employed in the fertilizer industry who have made numerous tests. They have found that small amounts of the trace elements will do all that a plant requires, but that these trace elements will be locked up in the soil, as soon as applied, unless the soil is on the acid side. In other words, it's apparently a waste of money to add small amounts of the trace elements to a soil showing an alkaline reaction.

Peggy Lowe Tops San Carlos Queen Contest by Nearly 2000 Votes

Peggy Lowe today is leading in the "Miss Independence" contest to determine who will reign as queen of the three-day Fourth of July celebration in San Carlos.

With 11,250 votes, Miss Lowe today was nearly 2000 votes ahead of the next two contestants, Frances Barnes, with 9500 tallies and Jacqueline Pindroh, with 9250.

The queen of the citywide celebration will be presented with her crown at the outdoor dance at the recreation center Saturday night following the final counting of contest votes. She is also to be given a trip to Hollywood, a stay with her companion at the Knickerbocker Hotel, and a personal tour of the motion picture studios.

Runner-up will become "Princess San Carlos" and receive a trip to Lake Tahoe as the guest of the Lake Tahoe Sierra Assn.

Peggy Lowe is sponsored by the Lions Club; Frances Barnes by the Carlos Club and Jacqueline Pindroh is a White Oaks candidate. Standings at noon today included Loretta Pries, sponsored by Granara's Flower Shop, 6250; Diana Grohs, Patio, 5850; Germaine Giovanelli, Brick O'Gold, 3500; Carole Francis, Hutto's, 3250; Charlotte Black, 2500; Janice McCall, Buster Brown Shop, 2000; Shirley Griggs, DeLuxe Barber Shop, 1500; Janice Barkla, Liddy's, 1350; Sondra Springer, San Carlos Drug Co., 1500; Evelyn Sawyer, 1250; Vy Perkins, 1250; Vivian Cummings, 1200; Cherry Tarbet, from the Castle of Curls, 1250; and the rest with 1000 each, Audrey Baines, Nancy Trau, Villa Chartier; Sylvia McDonald, Gift Studio, and Lola Phillips.

Other awards, now on display at 643 Laurel St., which will go to the queen contestants include a diamond ring, a formal evening gown and photographs by San Carlos studios.

Bad Check Draws Jail Term; Date Set for Arson Hearing

A San Mateo man who has a habit of writing bad checks is back in jail again, this time for three months.

Superior Judge Edmund Scott sentenced Orville Glenn Merritt, 23, of 7 South Grant St., to jail after Merritt pleaded guilty to passing an $82.70 check on April 14.

In passing sentence the judge told Merritt that the only reason he was not being sent to San Quentin was because Mrs. Merritt is going to have a baby.

On Nov. 6, 1947, Merritt was given one year probation by Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton on four counts of passing bad checks. On April 19, 1948, Merritt was rearrested in connection with the forgery of $1045 worth of checks, his probation was revoked and he was given a year in the county jail.

Judge Cotton on Oct. 28, 1948, annulled his order and reinstated Merrit on probation, this time for three years.

Other cases in superior court Monday.

Givens Arnold Ray, 44, charged with arson in the burning of Kings Market, Daly City, will go on trial July 21 before a jury in Judge Scott's court.

Givens, a clerk who was discharged from the store shortly before the fire, has pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity.

James C. Sands, 28, and unemployed San Jose laborer, was placed on probation for two years by Judge Cotton. Sands pleaded guilty to second degree burglary of the Skyline Village Market at Sky-L'onda last Nov. 21. He was arrested on May 13.

Navy Destroyer Here for Rodeo

The navy destroyer USS Collett (DD 730) will dock at the Port of Redwood City tomorrow and will be open for inspection from July 2 to July 4 as part of the Redwood City Fourth of July celebration.

The commanding officer of the Colletta is Cmdr. Thomas H. DuBois, USN. The ship will be welcmed to port by a committee headed by Mayor William H. Werder.

The Collett joined the fleet in November, 1944, and took part in every engagement of the third and fifth fleet groups. The ship is credited with destroying four enemy planes, one submarine, two enemy merchants ships and saw atcion in two shore bombardments.

The ship carries a crew of 100 men.

Child Crushed By Car in PA.

A 16-month-old girl was killed in Palo Alto yesterday when she was crushed by an automobile driven by her grandfather.

Kriste Lee Ruff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Ruff of 360 Bryant St., was placed in a lawn swing by her grandfather, Archibald Allen, just before he went to the Ruff's garage to drive his car out. The child followed Allen to the garage without his knowledge, and was caught between the car and the side of the garage door when he backed the vehicle out.

Allen and the girl's father rushed Kristie to Palo Alto Hospital. She died soon after arrival.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Tinney Funeral Home. Dr. R. Marvin Stuart will conduct the services. She will be interred at Alta Mesa Memorial Park.

She was the granddaughter of Mrs. Anita Matson of Kelso, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Ruff of San Francisco. An uncle, Navy Cadet William A. Ruff of Pensacola, Fla., also survives.

Belmont Firemen Halt Sawdust Blaze

Belmont firemen were called out yesterday afternoon to extinguish a small fire at the rear of the Daley Bros. construction company buildings on old County Rd.

Fire Chief Elbert Miller said that the fire was in some timber and that it was started by burning sawdust which rekindled after workmen had burned off a grass area. No damage resulted from the fire.

SITUATION: You and your family are invited to a picnic supper.

WRONG WAY: Assume that the one who invites you will provide the food.

RIGHT WAY: Ask what you are to bring in the way of food.

Reptile eggs are always white.

Because of the alkaline content of ashes, tools and containers used to handle ashes in big power plants must be made of metals which resist corrosion.

Although transparency is the distinguishing characteristic of fine American handmade glassware, it is made almost entirely from opaque materials.

Reno Man Sends Youths to Rodeo

A special grandstand section at the Redwood City Fourth of July rodeo has been purchased for the exclusive use of underprivileged children, with the compliments of Bill Graham, owner of Reno's Bank Club.

Graham donated $150 for the children's tickets, upon solicitation by rodeo queen candidate Pat Bolster. He specified that the rodeo association should locate and invite the most needy youngsters on the Peninsula to utilize the special section.

The Reno businessman, a frequent Peninsula visitor, has relatives living in Belmont. George Fakhourl, vice president of the Peninsula Celebrations Assn., is arranging for youngsters to see the rodeo as guests of Graham.

Belmont Youth Scouts' Mayor

Andrew Hegarty of Troop 161, Belmont, is first mayor of the new San Mateo County Council Boy Scout Camp Pomponio in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

He was elected following campaigning between the Crust and Filling parties. The Crust party, incidentally, won a clean slate.

Mayor Hegarty will govern the camp the rest of the current two-week session, and then will represent scouting on all official occasions for one year.

Ron Ross, also of Troop 161, Belmont, won the post of district attorney; judge is Gene Toohey of Troop 85, Millbrae. Health Officer Hap Harrison is from Troop 157, Burlingame, and morale officer (chief of police) is Bill Winstead, Troop 11, Burlingame.

Four-foot-five Ronnie Wheeler, Troop 153, San Carlos, was elected Petui valve office. His traditional duty is to keep the waters of Pescadero Creek ever warm for ideal swimming.
